Planning Commission Makes Another Try For Broom And Cart Man

"Why is it that we spend years trying to get the city council to do something about the dirty streets and nothing is done; then a business man appears only once before them and things start happening?" Gladys Kiplinger asked her fellow members of the Carmel Planning Commission when they held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon.

She was commenting on Frank Putnam's thunderous speech before the city council last week, in which he said that if the city couldn't afford to buy a mechanical street sweeper, he'd raise the money himself by subscription.

The planning commission beamed as they discussed the plans the business association clean-up committee is formulating (see story this page) and passed a resolution urging the city council to put a broom and push cart man on full-time duty immediately to relieve the situation while the council-business association committee is investigating the mechanical street sweeper possibilities. The planning commission had recommended a full-time push cart man over a year ago. The council, in last year's budget, set aside $3,000 to finance the operation but nothing happened. The $3,000 is still there, City Clerk Peter Mawdsley reported.

Women members of the commission agreed to draw straws Friday night, the loser to bring hot coffee to the foot of Ocean Avenue at 7:00 o'clock Saturday morning to George Wilcox and Clancy Bates who will be there with tape measure and draughting tools. Architect and artist respected. (Continued on Page Twelve)

Cleanup Chairman Asks Merchants To Tidy Up Sidewalks

Carmel Business Association has appointed Mrs. Joseph Wells chairman of its cleanup campaign, which got under way immediately.

The Association ordered 10,000 attractively designed "litter bags" which will be distributed to motorists at all local service stations; the stations will also have containers for the disposal of the filled bags. Posters are also being designed to advertise the campaign. In addition, the Business Association plans to have a film made on the theme of "This is your town—keep it clean", and to show the movie to schools, service clubs, and various youth groups such as the Boy and Girl Scouts and the Youth Center.

Merchants have been asked to keep their own sidewalks and gutters clean. Each is to have the responsibility of sweeping and washing down the sidewalks and gutters fronting his store.

Appointed to the cleanup committee headed by Mrs. Wells are Robert Spencer, Frank Putnam, Paul McKinstry, Ted Durein and Gladys Johnston.

Carmel Craftsmen To Display Their Work And Their Skills In Two-Day Exhibition In The Forest Theater

By DAISY BOSTICK

When Saturday, July 31, rolls around we'll all say: "Carmel has done it again." In the dim past we have had our carnivals, circuses, Dutch markets, garden tours and art balls. But it has remained for Carmel Crafts Guild, Inc. to give the first fair to be devoted exclusively to the crafts.

The old Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts was all-inclusive but with the interval of years between then and now the crafts were but a minority. The Carmel Art Association was formed and became an outlet for the artists but the craftsmen struggled along without making much headway until lately. Now the members have grown in numbers and are an important part of Carmel's cultural life. They are now staging a revival of interest in their various forms of art expression. Since the organization of the workers into the Carmel Crafts Guild they have worked mightily to perpetuate Carmel's tradition of being a work center and to help the public to become craft-conscious.

Carmel Crafts Guild has had several craft tours through the studios but now for two glorious days they will pool their talents and meet under the blue sky and among the green pines at the open-air Forest Theater. The celebration is to be called Crafts In The Making. They will all be in action, the potter at his wheel, the weaver at his loom, the other workers at their various skills.

The fair will be held each afternoon between 1:00 and 6:00

PINAFORE IN BENEFIT PERFORMANCE THURSDAY

A benefit performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's H.M.S. Pinafore will be given Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium.

The performance is under the sponsorship of the Monterey Realty Board, with all proceeds to go to the Monterey Youth Center building fund.

Tickets are on sale locally at the Graham Music Company.

Gastone Usigli, conductor of the Carmel Bach Festival. The Festival completes a week of outstanding programs with 8:30 concerts tonight, tomorrow and Sunday night in Sunset auditorium. There will be an afternoon (2:00 o'clock) as well as evening performance of the The St. Matthew Passion Sunday.

Pat Cunningham's One Man Show Opens Sunday

A one-man show of works by Carmel painter Patricia Cunningham opens Sunday at the Artists Guild of America Galleries at Monte Verde and Ocean Avenue.

The show comprises 32 paintings, half of which have never before been shown on the Peninsula; a dozen of the works are being shown for the first time anywhere. The rest of the works in Mrs. Cunningham's exhibition are from the group included in a traveling show sponsored by the Western Museum Directors Association, and have been given one-man showings throughout the West in such places as the Legion of Honor in San Francisco, the Portland Museum, the Santa Barbara Museum of Art and the gallery of the University of Washington.

The show will hang through August 25.

Opening Performances Prove Bach Festival Has Outstripped Its Own High Standard Of Achievement

By LILY FARREL

A sold out house, which wouldn't go home but stood in the aisles applauding following the opening performance of the Carmel Bach Festival, testified on Monday night to the remarkable ability of Dene Denny, Hazel Watrous and Gastone Usigli, the three people upon whom the success of the yearly festival depends. Repeated curtain calls Monday night brought Mr. Usigli, Dene Denny, Hazel Watrous, Angie Machado who assisted with the choral training, and vocal soloists Ruth Scates, June Wilkins, James Mason, pianists Ralph Linsley and Charles Fulkerson, concertmistress Nannette Levi, instrumental soloists Rosemary McNamee and Sheridan Stokes across the stage in a line to receive the audience's enthusiastic ovation.

Performing again his ample miracle Gastone Usigli on Monday night, July 19, led the Bach Festival Orchestra and Chorus through the most successful opening night in the seventeen years of the festival's existence. Under Usigli's inspired direction the chorus of 60 and orchestra of 45 fairly exploded into music as they began the festival with the Magnificat and Gloria Patri from Bach's Magnificat. The orchestra played with greater cohesion and smoothness than it has previously attained on opening night. There was no wobbling or uncertainty, and the reading of the D Major Overture, No. 3, was full of the delicately manipulated tempi and fine orchestral shadings which make Carmel Bach Festival versions of Bach's

POLICE TOP LIONS, 8 TO 5

Chief Klaumann's Police crew came through with a big five-run third inning to wipe out a four-run deficit and hung on for an 8-5 victory over the win-hungry Lions Club in last Thursday's Adult League softball action. The Police went into action with a rookie pitcher, Fischer, who survived a

PINE CONE DROPS CLOSE

ONE TO LAVETT'S ALL-STARS
All locked up at 2-2 going into the last inning, the Pine Cone softball team gave up a marker in the top of the seventh and dropped a 3-2 decision to the Lavett's All-Stars in Pacific Grove softball play. Jim Morton, Pine Cone workhorse hurler, and Dave Lane, current sensation of the Peninsula softball flingers, hooked up in a thrilling pitching duel which could have gone either way. Although nicked for 7 blows, Morton was tough in the clutch and left ten Lavett runners stranded on the bags. The Coners picked up three safeties off Lane's crafty slants, singles by Morton, Henry Meyer, and Walt Frey. The All-Stars drew first blood in the second frame, sending across two runs on two walks and a pair of singles. However, Nicholson's hustlers came back to knot the count in the fourth as Morton and Meyer hit safely behind Vandervort's walk.

shaky start to post his first win in the veteran loop. Pryor, Ellis, and Wermuth swung the big sticks for the Police with Gordy Campbell leading the defense from his short-stop position. Dutch Belvail's Lions started out with a vengeance, pushing over two runs in the first inning as the playing-manager drew a walk. Peterson also drew a free pass, Norton singled, and Torras took four wide ones. The Lions got two more in the second heat as Bosholm, Vasconcellos, and Belvail walked to set the stage for Doc Peterson's solid single which drove in the two markers.

PROS TOP FIRST-HALF IN ADULT SOFTBALL PLAY FIRST-HALF STANDINGS

	Won	Lost
Carmel Pros	3	0
Police	2	1
Firemen	1	2
Lions	0	3

A sturdy band of Carmel Pros powered by the big bats of Don Sands, Ed Baumann, Jack Giles, Ken Weise, and Lloyd Miller spanked the Carmel Firemen, 12 to 2, in their last outing to keep a clean slate in Adult League softball play. The sure-handed Pros turned in five (5) double-plays (an unheard of thing in Adult League history) to throttle the usually potent Firemen hitting attack. Sparkling plays abounded on both sides as the Firemen fought valiantly to stem the relentless Pro attack. Bill Weeks, Fireman first-sacker, turned in a real gem for the hosemen as he robbed Narvaez of a sure triple by snaring his sizzling liner. Gene Scheffer, Pro right-fielder, showed a real rifle arm by throwing out Bill Giles on an apparent single to the outfield.

CIRCLING THE BASES

Carmel's American Legion Post 512 which initiated Junior Legion baseball this season has slated a blowout for the members of the team on Monday, August 9th. The Carmel Legion lads completed a highly successful season in their first try in the fast Junior Legion circuit and are looking forward to next year's competition when the entire squad will return for another shot at the title. The following players will gather around the Legion's festive board on the night of August 9: Craig Chapman, Bob Michela, Paul Fratessa, Kyrk Reid, Jim Konrad, Chuck Solomon, Mike Mosolf, Dick Jennings, Clyde Klaumann, Mead McDonough, Bill McCormack, Kent Walker and West Whittaker. Congratulations to Post 512 for providing another healthy sporting activity for the youth of Carmel.

Johnny DeAmaral, Carmel's ubiquitous softball pitcher, hit the Monterey junior league Hall of Fame last week as he hurled a no-hit, no-run gem in the El Estero circuit. Little John has been threatening to come up with a perfect one for some time and his fans and teammates are rejoicing with him in his hour of triumph. On Monday and Wednesday afternoons, the Sunset diamond resembles a softball festival as over 40 youngsters square off in two games. Jack Giles and Donna Douglas match, lead, and arbitrate these games and a lot of fun is had by all. Incidentally, the Carmel lads have been taking the Pacific Grove teams over the bumps in inter-playground play this season. Good to see Chief Klaumann able to take the field again for his Police team. Clyde split a finger in his first outing this season and had to ride the bench in a couple of games. Look for the Police to give the Pros more trouble with the fiery Chief back in the lineup. Bob Updike, MPC All-League shortstop, has been lured to Soledad for Sunday competition in the Salinas Valley League. The popular ex-Padre with the hustling style of play should be a favorite with the Soledad fans who take their baseball very seriously. Look for more double A softball action at Sunset Field in the near future as the Pine Cone's top pitchers, Jim Mor-

KIP'S WIN TWO SOFTBALL MATCHES WITH 'ALL STARS'

Kip's downed Seaside All-Stars 7 to 6 and 13 to 3 in a pair of softball contests last week. Dennis Narvaez was the winning pitcher in both cases, allowing only two hits in the first game. Johnny De Amaral was the losing pitcher for the All Stars.

Buddy De Amaral hit 3 for 4 for the winning Kippers; while the catcher, Medeiros, had two hits in four times at bat.

In the second game, Dennis Narvaez repeated himself, letting up two hits to the All Stars, while B. De Amaral was the losing pitcher. Brothers Gerald and Paul Artellan were the big sticks for the Kippers, each getting two hits apiece. Johnny De Amaral was the All Stars big gun at bat.

Tuesday night will see a double header for the Kippers. The first game, at 7:15 o'clock, will find them facing a girls' team of players from P. G. and Seaside. The second game, at 8:15 o'clock, will have the hot P.G. Rec. Club squaring away against the Kippers.

GOLF CLUB MEETING MON.

Monthly meeting of the Monterey Bay Golf Club will take place Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Del Monte clubhouse.

The club is planning a return match here with the Salinas club, the date tentatively set for August 8. For the following six Sundays, the club will be busy with its sponsorship of the Monterey City Amateur Championship tournament.

LOCAL DRIVERS BAG ROAD RACE TROPHIES

Carmel drivers really brought home the hardware in last week's Santa Clara Sports Car Races, held Sunday at the county fairgrounds near San Jose.

Jean Pierre Kunstle, driving a stock Porsche coupe, took first place in his class in the 10-lap race for production cars between 1400-3000 cc displacement, and in so doing, gave the spectators the thrill of the day—up until the last lap, he waged a hair-raising duel with the front-running Triumph TR-2, which was resolved, ironically, by Kunstle spinning out on the ninth lap and the Triumph immediately afterwards losing a

Small Craft Safety Program Planned By Carmel Red Cross

The Carmel Red Cross, at its quarterly meeting last week, announced that a small-craft safety program will be given on the Peninsula during the last two weeks in August.

Monterey, Watsonville and Salinas are expected to join the Carmel chapter in co-operation on the program, designed to teach instructors for each chapter. The classes will be held in the evening, and will be of three hours' duration. Candidates should be good swimmers and over 21.

Complete information as to time and place will be available shortly. Applicants may get in touch with the Red Cross office at 7-6719.

BACH MUSIC FOR WAYFARER

In recognition of Bach Festival Sunday, Bach compositions will be featured at the identical services of the Church of the Wayfarer on Sunday at 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock. Connell K. Carruth, organist, will play Sarabande from the 4th cello suite and three Chorale-Preludes: Lord Christ, Be Present Now, Hark a Voice Saith, All Men Are Mortal, and Salvation Now Is Come to Earth. In addition she will play the sonatina from the Cantata, God's Time Is Best.

The congregation will sing the hymn, Breathe On Me, Breath of God, set to a Bach tune, and also All Glory, Laud and Honor, which is sung to a chorale used by the great composer.

Ruth Scates, one of the Bach Festival soprano soloists, will be heard singing Lovely Appear from the oratorio, The Redemption by Charles Gounod. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray's sermon theme will be: Among the Missing—.

READ THE WANT ADS

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

I have never known Norvell Gillespie to be dull either in his radio talks or in his writings. How this "galloping gardener", who flits from the Orient to Europe, has the vitality and the time to keep informed on obscure garden matters, defeats me. There is a dramatic quality about Norvell that keeps his friends guessing and his listeners and readers chuckling. His latest nonsense has to do with gophers.

I am asked hundreds of times how to rid a garden of gophers. I shake my head stupidly and reply, "I dunno." An alley cat has been my insurance through the years, and there is a trick about this cat-protection. Don't feed the little fellow anything save milk. He won't protest, for the cat far prefers his own "catch" to store variety of food. Few gardeners will adhere to this schedule and every time pussy puts up an appeal, they ply him with food. All the cat really wants is milk in large doses.

Now Norvell Gillespie comes out with the startling information that a man-made earthquake gets rid of gophers! Can you imagine anything as intriguing? Everybody would like to make a nice safe earthquake just for the heck of the thing and to combine this earthquake with gopher control, makes one raise the eyebrows than chuckle.

The earthquake method carries logic. All you have to do is to set up a bunch of miniature windmills in the gopher area. Then you go sit down in the shade and watch the winds do your stuff. Can't you just see granddaddy gopher cock up his ears when a strange vibration startles his little world? Norvell's earthquake gadget has been indorsed by professional gardeners and come to think of it, the thing does make sense. A gopher is canny and is wise to traps and poison, but to a rattling earth with dull vibrations! If I were a gopher, I'd scamper too. Where does the gopher go? Oh that is none of your concern. Right into your neighbor's garden. More windmills.

Norvell Gillespie and his nonsense has delighted me for years and I have derived more down-to-earth garden lore from him than from any other source. There is a gay fillip and stimulation to his new book, Pacific Coast Gardening Guide, that reads more like a novel than a study book, and the general appeal of this volume is that the book deals with Pacific coast problems and lets the rest of the nation fend for itself.

"Outstanding" Says Recreational Field Representative On Visit To Town House And Youth Center

The Carmel Foundation, as well as the Carmel Youth Center and the recreation program as a whole, was presented with a large bouquet last week by Mary F. Quirk, western representative of the National Recreation Association.

Miss Quirk, visiting Carmel in her capacity as a field representative for the Association, told the Pine Cone that in her opinion, the Carmel recreation program was "outstanding." "I can't say enough fine things about it," she continued; "I find it amazing what Carmel does on such a limited budget—from play facilities for children right up to the 'senior citizen' program."

One reason for the exceptional success of the Carmel program, Miss Quirk observed, is "the wonderful co-operation of so many volunteers." "It shows fine community spirit right down the line," she said.

Town House, the Carmel Foundation's recreation center for older people, came to Miss Quirk's attention through a Pine Cone article announcing the opening of the new Town House arts and crafts studio. Miss Quirk took advantage of the open invitation to attend the studio-warming, and was delighted by what she found.

"It was a real joy to be there," was Miss Quirk's enthusiastic reaction to Town House. "The atmosphere was so homey, and the people seemed to be enjoying everything so thoroughly and so spontaneously." The new studio, which is under the direction of Charlotte Morton, also won Miss Quirk's immediate approval; it was "a wonderful opportunity and a wonderful idea."

As a result of her unofficial visit, Miss Quirk plans to use Town House as the subject of a story for Recreation, the national magazine circulated by the National Recreation Association. In addition, she has extended to the Carmel Foundation the full co-operation of the Association should the need arise.

The National Recreation Association, founded in 1906 and with headquarters in New York, is a privately-endowed nationwide community service agency. Its purpose is to do study, planning and research on all phases of recreation work, and to act in an advisory capacity to various communities and recreation groups on request.

Miss Quirk represents one of the Association's eight district offices throughout the United States.

With headquarters in Los Angeles, Miss Quirk's field work carries her through four Western states: California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona. Her recent visit here was on the behest of Jack Giles, director of the Carmel Youth Center, who has previously utilized the advisory services of the Association in the organization and maintenance of the Center. Fred Godwin, chairman of the Youth Center's Adult Board, recently accepted the invitation of the Recreation Association to act as its regional sponsor on the Peninsula.

New Quarters, New Name For Red Cross

In a breakfast meeting of the directors of the Monterey-Pacific Grove Chapter of the Red Cross, it was voted unanimously to change the name to the Monterey Bay Area Chapter of American Red Cross and to lease the two-story building and a small cottage of nearly 4,000 square feet, located in the Casa Abrego grounds, on Abrego and Webster streets.

Commander Charles M. Strosnider (USNR) who recently purchased the property from Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Darcy, made it possible for the American Red Cross to have these spacious buildings by quoting an extremely reasonable rental to the Red Cross Housing Committee headed by Mrs. Russell A. Fischella. Mr. Strosnider with his wife and four children will be moving to Carmel where he purchased a home in Hatton Fields.

The negotiations for leasing of the properties to Red Cross were consummated by Victor S. Velisaratos, of the West Shore Realty Company.

Mary H. Larkins

Mrs. Mary H. Larkins, mother of Mrs. Frederick Elstob of Carmel, and widow of the late William V. Larkins of Philadelphia, died Tuesday morning in a local rest home after a year's illness.

Mrs. Larkins, daughter of the late Dr. Reginald T. Hilton of England and Florence Augusta Hilton of Pennsylvania, was born March 27, 1871, in Philadelphia, and spent much of her life in that city. She was a member of Eastern Star.

She had resided in Carmel since November of 1952, having in recent years divided her time between her daughter's home here and New York City, the home of her son, Reginald Hilton Larkins.

In addition to her daughter and son, she leaves two granddaughters, Lucy and Mary Elstob of Carmel; a grandson, Richard H. Larkins of Jacksonville, Florida; and two great-grandchildren, Victoria Ann and Rachel Larkins, also of Jacksonville.

Funeral services will be held at Hanover Green in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania.

Two and Two for the Laytons

The arrival of a new son last week for Dr. and Mrs. Walter Layton evened up the battle of the sexes in the family. The score now stands at two and two in the fourth inning.

The second and latest son has been named Steven Folte Layton, and he displaced a featherweight six pounds, eight and a half ounces at his debut last Friday at Peninsula Hospital. His older brother is Tom; two sisters are Patricia and Carolyn. They'll meet Steven sometime today, when he and his mother are due home from the hospital.

The quartet of kids are the grandchildren of Mrs. Walter B. Layton, Sr., of Menlo Park.

CWC Midsummer Luncheon

On Monday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock, the Carmel Woman's Club has planned a Midsummer Luncheon for its members and their guests. The potluck lunch, only event scheduled by the club for the summer months, will take place in the clubhouse, and will be followed by bridge. The club will provide rolls and coffee.

PART VIII

When in Windsor Town drive down Church and Market Streets, where are a number of interesting houses built between 1600 and 1700, among them the house occupied by Nell Gwynn until King Charles II built a house for her in 1680, east of St. Albans Street. The Town Hall, begun in 1686, is also worth seeing. Downstairs, from the Corn Market entrance, is a very interesting museum, giving the history of this ancient countryside from the stone age. On the second floor is also much of interest, including a stained glass window, unveiled by Princess Elizabeth in May of 1951.

The parish church should also be visited. It has an oak screen done by Grinling Gibbons and memorials by Peter Scheemaker, who did twelve of the monuments in Westminster Abbey, including those of Shakespeare and Dryden.

A plaque outside a shop on the corner of River Street marks the birth place of Robert Keaynes, 1595-1650, who founded the "Honourable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, the oldest military organization in America," it states, and, I was informed, that he also had some connection with Harvard University when it was founded in 1636.

Near Windsor Castle, and skirting the road over which we traveled, is Runnemeade, a large meadow on which the English noblemen camped, who compelled King John, also called Lackland, to sign the Magna Carta on June 15, 1215. The King's signature was actually written on the charter on a little island in the Thames, opposite Runnemeade, now called Charter Island, which can be seen from the road.

Hampton Court Palace is slightly off this road further on. This large brick building was built by Cardinal Wolsey in 1515, and presented by him to Henry VIII in 1526. The King made some additions to the palace, notably a large hall and an apartment for Anne Boleyn, which had not been finished when she was put to death. The palace was very large and was built without a single hall between the rooms. It is now said to have 1000 rooms, some of which have been made into apartments for old ladies of noble birth.

The clock over the main entrance, called Anne Boleyn's Gateway, still runs, and sets in motion, on the hour, a knight on his horse. This was put there in the time of Henry VIII, when Anne Boleyn was his queen.

Henry VIII lived at Hampton Court Palace with all his wives, one of whom was arrested in the beautiful Private Garden. The sightseeing guide, who took us through Windsor Castle, said that Queen Anne Boleyn was that queen, and for a time was kept a prisoner in one of the two underground passages in Windsor Castle, but history books now in use, and well-informed people, all agree that Queen Anne was arrested while attending a tournament at Greenwich, and removed to the Tower of London.

Edward VI was born in the palace, and his mother, Jane Seymour, died there. King Charles the first was imprisoned there. William and Mary employed Christopher Wren to build the additions which are now the State Apartments.

At Hampton Court King James I presided over a number of conferences concerning the translation of the Bible, later to be known as King James Version; this was during the years 1604-11. The palace remained the royal residence until the time of George II.

Signs are everywhere left of the occupancy of Henry VIII. The little private garden he built for Anne Boleyn could very easily be duplicated here in Carmel. When I saw it, it was planted with great groups of snapdragons, delphiniums, sweet William, and many other old-time flowers, as well as many varieties of the shorter dahlias. The colors were arranged har-

JOHANN SEBASTIAN BACH

"Whoever has felt this wonderful tranquility has comprehended the mysterious spirit that has here expressed all it knew and felt of life in the secret language of tone."

—SCHWEITZER

*Until the spirit has encountered peace
It cannot find a centre for its flights.
Only a tranquil vision can release
The pure and ringing anthem of the heights.
From that still place all earth appears serene
And all its joys and sorrows but a psalm.
The mighty chorus of our life is seen
Within the whole, magnificent and calm.
Thus in his music Bach has given voice
To all he saw from summits of the heart
Of man's long pilgrimage to God alone.
Whatever be the mood his songs rejoice
And all great sorrows find their counterpart
In soaring structure and transcendent tone.*

"The peculiar charm of these works comes from their spontaneous freshness of invention."

*They spring alight like flames and gather power
From some mysterious source as they proceed;
Yet more than flames, they grow in form, and flower
As though in truth predestined from the seed.
So close they are to centre they ensure
The secret life of music undefiled;
So morning-like, so innocent, so pure
They spark delight as freely as a child.
Here is creativeness become sublime,
That gives the thing created its own worth
To breathe and glow where lesser works contrive—
So that forever it shall bear through time
The pure and crystal moment of its birth
Rejoicing, fresh and instantly alive.*

"The self-unfolding of the idea in which it creates its own opposite in order to overcome it, creates another, which again it overcomes, and so on and on until it finally returns to itself, having meanwhile traversed the whole of existence."

*With rising joy the living theme unfolds
And with exuberant vitality
Creates its own negation, to achieve
A new perfection otherwise unbound.
But not content with this, the challenge dares
A further opposite, against whose face
The vast creative waves of motion flow
Until again by richer, deeper means
The obstacle, self-made, is overcome.
Thus on and on until the pure idea
Returns in all its fullness to itself.
The cycle closes of its own accord
Having traversed by laws of harmony
The whole of life's existence in its course.*

moniously, and it created a picture of exquisite beauty.

Bushey Park belongs to Hampton Court Palace. Here we saw herds of tame deer, some of them spotted, that came right up to us, their black and completely round noses in constant motion while we were near. We passed a statue of Diana in the park near a lake and saw many vistas of delightful lawns and background planting of flowering shrubs and trees.

The park was the last stop in a very full day of sightseeing.

Another tour which should not be missed is to Oxford and the Shakespeare Country. Two days should be allowed if it is possible, but there is a one day tour which covers the ground fairly well.

I should choose the tour which goes through Beaconsfield, a town of about 5,000 people, and the home of Benjamin Disraeli, novelist and statesman, who became the Earl of Beaconsfield. Disraeli, first an M.P. became the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and in 1868 succeeded Lord Derby as premier. It was he who proposed that the queen be proclaimed the Empress of India. He was the author of numerous novels which still are read in England. His home was Hughenden, Beaconsfield, where he is buried.

The next stop would be Oxford University. Oxford Town and University are built at the confluence of the rivers Cherwell and Isis, the last a branch of the Thames. Reaching Oxford by the London Road, one arrives in a "circus" called "Carfax", derived, I was told, from a Latin word meaning four-forked. Four streets end or begin here; one of them is High Street, the most important street in Oxford. It is always called The High and is an extension of London Road. On The High are most of the university buildings.

I was variously told that Oxford University includes 22 major and six smaller colleges, and was also told that it had 28 colleges, and a number of theological colleges with no connection with the university. Records are at the library to substantiate both. It has four women's colleges, and a limited number of women are admitted.

The magnitude and beauty of the campus overwhelms one immediately. What we did was to look at the university from various points, and try to get a complete picture of it. Later we visited a few of the buildings, and chose the ones most important or interesting to us. A good deal of reading had been done before we took the tour.

Oxford University can be traced back to the eleventh century. The early scholars were maintained "by royal bounty."

In the thirteenth century such orders as the Dominicans, the Franciscans, the Carmelites, and the Augustinians began to establish themselves at Oxford, but with the Reformation, and the confiscation of the monasteries, Oxford became a university for secular education, and soon took on that peculiar English form, a university of colleges which now is the established pattern in Cambridge and London Universities also, and, as I understand it, in all English universities.

Balliol College, founded in 1262, and Merton College in 1264, are the two oldest. One sometimes hears that Magdalen College is the oldest, but Magdalen was founded in 1458. These figures are from the University Library. Magdalen College is one of the most beautiful buildings at Oxford, and Magdalen Tower is probably the best known landmark there. Cardinal Wolsey was educated at Magdalen, as was King Edward VIII.

Christ Church is the largest of the colleges. In Tom Quad is an old stairway, with exquisite fan tracery, leading to Christ Church Hall, the most beautiful and largest in Oxford. I was told that on its stage was used the first stage scenery in England. The play using it was produced for King Charles I, but I was unable to learn what play it was.

Wharf Theatre Has "Double Bill" Of Art And Drama In Warshawsky Night

BY KIPPY STUART

Last Friday night, there were two stars at the Wharf Theater: Abel Warshawsky and his wife Ruth. Upon entering the impressive new theater foyer, we were arrested by walls lined with superb paintings, by Warshawsky. The lighting for this one-man-show could compete with any art gallery, thanks to the skill of Walter Scott. During the intermission and later at the reception, held in honor of the Warshawskys, there was acclaim for the outstanding work of the artist.

In the dramatic end, Ruth Warshawsky dominated the evening as an accomplished actress. To my way of thinking, she has no equal in this locale. There is a vibrant quality about Ruth that gives her the uncanny ability to interpret a role as though she were that person. Cast as Lizzie, in The Respectful Prostitute, her hands, her entire body are fluid, symbolic of the sordid character she portrays. Don Gunderson, cast opposite Ruth, gave an excellent performance. The role of Fred called for a complicated set of values. Passion and conscience fought for place. Don is gifted with an economy of body movement and his portrayal of Fred was accomplished almost entirely by facial changes. One look at Don's mouth gave evidence which of his conflicting emotions was uppermost.

In the skit The Shy and Lonely, Norma DiMaggio and Ralph Slayton gave a heart-rending picture of confused and pathetic adolescence. Norma has risen to new heights in this role, which gave to her the opportunity to prove her dramatic ability. Her slow, awkward movements, her vapid expression, fitted perfectly into the character of Harriet, a teenager who had never possessed a boy-friend. The loose coltish acting of Ralph Slayton, gave a picture of an adolescent just waking up to the facts of life and determined to find out. Both Norma and Ralph were happily cast as leads in The Shy and Lonely.

The Wharf Theater could not exist without Nick Le Feuvre. I am constantly surprised at Nick's virtuosity. As the suave, impressive Senator Clark, in The Prostitute, Nick was handsome and smooth as silk. In The Shadow of the Glen, he was a horrible old man, rising from the dead. One wonders, how does Nick do it?

The supporting actors of the three skits were, Larry Rust, Bob Bradley, Dorothy Kennett and Jeanne Dam. There are those who deplore plays that deal with the sordid and the unwashed. It's funny though, isn't it, that Sartre's plays pack them in and for those who eschew real life drama, there is always Alice in Wonderland lying around to while away a lonely evening.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

This is a story about The Nature Conservancy. It is a comparatively new organization under its present name, having been established in 1950. Actually it dates back to 1917 when it first came to life as a committee of the Ecological Society of America. In 1946 it became a separate organization known as The Ecologists' Union, and in 1950 its present name was adopted.

Ecology is one of our fastest growing physical sciences and probably one of the least known. It is defined in the dictionary as "the branch of biology which deals with the mutual relations between organisms and their environment". From a practical standpoint it is very important in the preservation of different species of plants and animals. Unless the scientific knowledge of their relation to their environment is available, all efforts to preserve them in a natural state will be futile.

Realizing that opportunities to study these things are becoming fewer and fewer because natural areas all over the country are fast disappearing under the impact of the plow, axe, bulldozer, drainage ditch, fire and grazing, ecologists decided that cooperative action was the only solution to the problem. Efforts are being centered on conserving different types of natural areas all over the country. To name only a few types there are forests and grasslands, including the primeval prairie, alpine meadows, savannahs, peat bogs, marshes, swamps, sage-brush, cactus-covered deserts, sand dunes, chaparral, cliffs, canyons, caves, springs, streams, ponds, ocean beaches.

The Nature Conservancy has its headquarters in Washington D.C., and is a membership organization, open to anyone. Its address is 607 G St., S.E. Its aim is to preserve small areas of wild nature in every part of the country, in this way not duplicating the work of the large national and state parks and forests. These areas will provide material, for basic biological research in many very important fields. The Hastings Reservation in the Upper Carmel Valley is an excellent example of what can be accomplished in this way.

The Good Old Summer Time

A wonderful season . . . vacation time . . . the time when children are on the loose, free and happy . . . when the skies are sunny and the evenings balmy . . . patio barbecue party time . . . the time when the good earth palpates with the desire for reproduction . . . garden time.

Now, anyone can have a garden who has a plot of ground, who plans a little and loves a lot. . . . To have a fine garden one must know the needs of his soil, must learn what and when and how to plant. Your nurseryman can tell you these things and more. As to watering—give your garden the amount of water it needs, not too little and not too much. Heavy adobe soils take water slowly, loose sandy soils absorb it fast. When you know the soil and the drainage and sun and shade conditions of your plot of ground you will know just how to water for the best results.

Warren Johnson Wed on Guam

Warren Cottle Johnson, son of Mrs. M. Dave Davis of Carmel, this month took as his bride the former Ruth Elaine Wendt, daughter of Mrs. Amalia Wendt and the late Mr. Wendt of Amboy, Minnesota.

The ceremony was performed in the Chapel of the Palms at Andersen Air Force Base, located on the island of Guam, where both Warren and his bride were lately employed. Father L. Koch, an Air Force chaplain, officiated at the wedding. The couple are now on a month's honeymoon in Manila and Hong Kong, after which they will make their home in the Hawaiian Islands, where Warren will be employed as materials engineer at the 14th Naval District Laboratory at Pearl Harbor.

The new Mrs. Johnson attended Amboy High School and the Mankato Teachers' College, Mankato, Minnesota. She subsequently joined the WAVES, and was assigned to recruiting duty in Washington, D.C., and later to the Naval Air Station at Alameda. At the time of her marriage she was secretary to the executive officer at the Naval Air Station at Agana, Guam.

For her wedding, the bride wore a ballerina gown of white eyelet embroidery over pink taffeta, topped by a bolero of the eyelet. Her small hat was pink, and she carried a bouquet of white Cattleya orchids with streamers of white pikake. Mrs. Clarence A. Linter of Harmon Village, Guam, was the matron of honor and Lt. Linter was best man.

The benedict, whose father is the late Edward Martin Johnson of Gilroy, was graduated in 1944 from Carmel High School, attended Washington State College, and served with the infantry in the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre during World War II. Following his graduation from the University of Santa Clara in 1950, Warren went to Guam as an employee of Pacific Islands Engineers. Since January of last year he has been materials engineer in charge of the Materials Testing Laboratory, Base Development, Commander Naval Forces Marianas.

On both sides of his family Warren is a direct descendant of California pioneers, particularly of the Santa Clara Valley region. On the maternal side, his great-grandfather, William Cottle, came to the Edenville district, south of San Jose, in the 1850s. Elmer E.

Cottle, Warren's grandfather, was prominent in the political life of San Jose at the turn of the century. On the paternal side, Warren's great-great-grandfather, Julius Martin, was the first American to settle in the section of the Santa Clara Valley around Gilroy. He took up his residence there in 1844 and ever after maintained his home there. He served with Fremont as a captain of American Scouts and both he and his wife were present at Sonoma at the historic raising of the Bear Flag. They lived under four flags in California — Spanish, Alcalde, Bear and the American.

Shipwreck Party Saturday

Jon Konigshofer will be chief castaway in charge of the Beach Club's Shipwreck dinner dance, to be held at the club tomorrow evening. Assisting Konigshofer in planning the Pebble Beach event are Mrs. Shreve Archer, Jr., Colleen Whitman and tennis pro John Gardiner. Music will be provided by a Mexican band, and flowers will decorate the club and the outdoor patio, where the guests will dance under the stars (unless it's foggy). Honor guests at the party will be the Golden Galleon fleet, sailing down from San Francisco for the occasion.

Audubon Field Trip Monday

Loma Prieta in the Santa Cruz Mountains will be the destination of an Audubon Society field trip Monday. Participants will meet at 9:00 o'clock in the morning at Moss Landing at the junction of Highway 1 and Construction Road, just north of the cement bridge over Elkhorn Slough.

The Albertos Report on Mann

Mr. and Mrs. David Alberto are in San Francisco visiting relatives. By way of compensation for missing Festival Week they plan to return for the recital here next month by Festival soloist Julian Karolyi.

The Albertos have news of violist Michael Mann, son of author Thomas Mann and a soloist in last year's festival. Michael has just completed a long series of engagements in Japan, including several solo appearances with the Tokyo Symphony, of which his uncle is conductor. He has now launched on a concert tour of India, on the invitation of the Indian government; the tour, which will take him to all parts of the country, is expected to last a year. After that, he and his wife plan to spend some time at their home in Salzburg with their children, who are presently in school in Switzerland.

A New Name, A New Face

Two new names, one fictional and one real, recently entered Mrs. Roxie Jensen's vocabulary.

The first is "Jerry Madison", the stage name recently bestowed on Mrs. Jensen's son, Robert. Not that Robert isn't a perfectly good name, but the show people rather arbitrarily decided that there were too many Robert Jensens around already. Anyway, Robert-cum-Jerry is here enjoying a between-shows vacation, having recently completed long-run appearances in the cast of Brigadoon, which played in both San Francisco and Los Angeles. Towards the end of the month, Bob plans to join the cast of the new John Charles Thomas show, which is due to open in Oakland later this summer.

The other new name is Kristy Darlene, and it belongs to Mrs. Jensen's new niece, Kristy is the daughter of Mr. and Douglas Browe of Monterey, and was born July 12 at Peninsula Hospital. Also in the Browe family is a son, Douglas Dean, aged two. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Kuska of Monterey; great-grandmother is Mrs. Bessie Claytor of Seaside.

Radiana Pazmor Visits

During festival week Radiana Pazmor is the houseguest of Noel Sullivan at Hollow Hills Farm. A singer and pianist, Miss Pazmor is a member of the faculty of Spartanburg College in South Carolina. Both she and her sister, violinist Mary Pasmore, have appeared as guest artists before the Musical Arts Club here, and several years ago Radiana was a soloist in the Bach Festival.

Earlier this week, Miss Pazmor was entertained with a small luncheon at the home of her nephew, Milton Stitt, and Mrs. Stitt. Also invited for the occasion was Mrs. Carl Nuetzel, an old friend of Miss Pazmor's.

Mrs. Schuster's Houseguests

Festival Week visitors of Mrs. Walter Schuster are her brother-in-law, Alfred Schuster, and his wife, who came out from their home in New York.

Schneebergers Play Tourist

Colonel and Mrs. Philip Schneeberger are living incognito this week. They've rented their home, moved out and are hiding away in a local hotel, disguised as tourists, emerging only for the Bach Festival concerts.

Nothing sinister about it, though — the two have simply put their lands in order preparatory to taking off for several months' vacation. They found they couldn't bear to leave without hearing the Festival, so decided to treat themselves to a few days' holiday in their own home town before getting under way.

The Schneebergers plan to depart Monday, and have no fixed itinerary. They'll go wherever the spirit moves. It may, they indicated, move them as far as Victoria, B.C. They'll end their vagabonding around the first week in September.

Mrs. Drexel WHY DO YOU PREFER BLUE BONNET?

Mrs. David Anthony Drexel of Southern Pines, N.C., is known among her friends as a charming and distinguished hostess.

"Frankly, we serve smooth-spreading BLUE BONNET regularly in our home because everybody loves its sunny-sweet flavor! BLUE BONNET improves the taste of all foods, whether used as a table spread—or in cooking. For Flavor, Nutrition and Economy, I recommend BLUE BONNET!"

The Denny-Watrous Party

Impresarios Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous gave their annual party for Bach Festival soloists and various Festival dignitaries at their studio following the Tuesday night performance. Some 50 guests were on hand for the occasion, and as usual, the entertainment—both planned and impromptu—was of a high order.

The party got off to a cheerful start with selections by a barber-shop quartet, composed of chorus members: Gene Bartlett, Michael Zaccane, Dick Levitt and Bob Faris—their repertory of old-time favorites included the siren song of male quartets, Sweet Adeline.

Gastone Usigli again consented to do his famous "party stunt", which consists of improvising variations on the piano to a theme volunteered by one of the guests. This time, it was the maestro's Girl Friday, Angie Machado, who called the tune, and Mr. Usigli's unique and vivacious treatment of it earned him a general accolade.

Next the guests were treated to the light-fingered legerdemain of Harry Blackstone, Jr., talented son of a famous father and currently a student at the Army Language School. The program reached a truly bravura finale in the pianistic pyrotechnics of Julian Karolyi, who breezed through two Chopin numbers and finished off with a final burst of virtuosity on one of the brilliant Liszt Hungarian rhapsodies.

Among the non-performing guests at the party were pianist Ruth Slenczynski, one of the 1952 festival stars, and her husband George Born; Ruth recently returned from an extensive tour in Europe. Not present, and much missed, was basso Donald Gramm, whose original ditty gently spoofing Denny-Watrous and the festival was a huge hit at last year's party. Gramm arrived Wednesday to rehearse his parts in the Coffee Cantata and the St. Matthew Passion.

Sunny Home

Mr. and Mrs. Don Matteson (Sunny Cook) were here from Berkeley for the week end with Sunny's parents. It was a last look before leaving visit, as they are off August 15 for the University of Illinois where Don will pursue a doctorate in chemistry. He has a National Science Fellowship.

Carmel Uninc. Meeting Monday

There will be a general meeting of Carmel Unincorporated at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in the Carmel High School cafeteria. Members are to hear the report of the committee on the establishment of fire districts in unincorporated areas.

Boy for the Van Schoells

Mr. and Mrs. Van Schoell of Carmel are the parents of a new boy child, y-clept Bertram. The newcomer's birthday is July 15, and he celebrated his first at Peninsula Community Hospital.

Mark Brislawn To Get MS

Mark Gerald Brislawn, Jr., of Carmel, will receive his master of science degree at summer commencement exercises to be held at Kansas State College, Manhattan. The graduation ceremonies will take place July 31.

Causerie Celebrates Bastille Day

Gay tricolor signs lettered "au pique" directed nearly 100 members and guests of La Causerie Francaise to a green grove by Carmel River for an al fresco celebration July 14, Bastille Day.

The setting itself, located on the Lower Carmel Valley ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Cornell Culp, could have been lifted straight from the French provincial countryside. Red, white and blue bunting, flowers, flags and pennants decorated the tree-vaulted glade, a fire crackled in an open pit, and there was wine and good cheer in abundance.

The festive occasion was symbolized by pretty Parisienne Claude Bayol, who greeted the merrymakers in a tricolor costume as "Marianne, the spirit of France." Following the welcoming speech by Causerie President Edgar Bissantz, Mme. Bayol gave a spirited recitation of Le Tricolore and an entertaining history of the composition of the Marseillaise.

Guests provided their own dinners, but La Causerie offered wine (much note of the fact that it was Californian, not French), coffee, aperitif and dessert—the latter ice cream and homemade melt-in-the-mouth strawberry tarts. Throughout the picnic and far into the night the party was enlivened by accordion music, dancing, and impromptu French speeches, stories and songs.

An unexpected treat of the evening was the musical offering of one of the guests, Nguyen Huu Thu, an instructor at the Army Language School, who charmed the group with his beautiful singing of a sweetly plaintive song in his native Vietnamese.

Other extemporaneous speakers and entertainers included Janine Johnston, Jeanne Josselyn, Alfred Bauer and magnificently-moustached Paul Le Bouleux, all of whom earned hearty "bravos" from the good-natured crowd.

Altogether, an excellent party, voila tout.

Bayols' Bastille Day Party

The venerable log cabin on Monte Verde at Fourth has seen some notable doings in its time (Commodore Sloat is said to have slept there, and Robinson Jeffers made it his home before building Tor House), but probably few were quite like the delightful Bastille Day party given there last Friday night by its present occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Bayol. (Jean and his charming French wife, Claude, who met at the University of Geneva, returned earlier this year to Carmel, where he had worked prior to going abroad to study.)

Strings of red, white and blue lights led arriving guests to the back patio, where they were greeted by young Martine and Francoise Henrard, who presented each couple with appropriate headgear: revolutionists' caps for the men, French country-style chapeaux for the women, all made by Mrs. Bayol. Refreshments were served by the hostess from "la buvette", a dollhouse converted for the occasion to a bar and buffet. Inside the house, tricolor streamers and decorations carried out the party theme.

The real surprise of the evening came when the guests were presented with sparklers and ushered to the garden, where the host, with appropriate flourishes, set off a real Bastille Day fireworks display; the party oohed and aahed, waved the sizzling sparklers, and accompanied the proceedings by singing La Marseillaise (those who didn't know the words hummed vigorously). The Bayols' small son, Jacques Michel, slept through his first Bastille Day celebration, but was treated to his own fireworks display the following day, when the Bayols discovered a leftover Roman candle.

The Bayols' guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Henrard and their daughters Martine, Francoise and Christine (the latter of whom also slept in her bassinets throughout the festivities), Mr. and Mrs. Paul Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burde, Mr. and Mrs. Cole Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Will Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kearns, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ebersoll, Amelia Sosic, Jeanne Dam, Anne Dorward, Dale Lefler and Marty Milner.

Reception for Bach Performers

The exhilaration and release of tension following a highly successful opening night helped create the relaxed and convivial atmosphere at Monday night's traditional welcoming party presented for all Bach Festival participants by the Musical Arts Club.

The informal reception, which took place in the Carmel Art Gallery after the sellout performance opening night, drew a crowd of over 150, including soloists, orchestra and chorus members, the Festival staff and producers and, of course, Maestro Gastone Usigli and Mrs. Usigli. Guests of honor were the soloists in Monday night's program: Festival veteran Ralph Linsley, who performed the tricky harpsichord solo in the fifth Brandenburg, violinist Rosemary McNamee, flutist Sheridan Stokes, and vocal soloists Ruth Scates, June Wilkins, and Lawrence Mason, who pined-hit for tenor James Schwabacher.

To help the many guests in getting acquainted, a greeting committee of Mrs. Edward Graham, Dr. Harvey Marshall and Musical Arts Club President Mrs. Carl Nuetzel presented each party arrival with a name plaque and helped make introductions. General chairman of the reception was Mrs. Reu E. Manhire; assisting in various capacities on arrangements, refreshments and decorations were Miss Angie Machado, Mrs. Robert Forbes, Mrs. Marian Parker, Mrs. Leo Abinante, Mrs. Hascall Stewart and Mrs. Rudi Partridge.

Noel Sullivan Fetes Festival

A perfect summer's day and a rehearsal-free afternoon drew a huge crowd to Hollow Hills Farm Wednesday for Noel Sullivan's annual picnic for festival participants, visiting dignitaries and sundry other guests.

Following luncheon, the sunshine and swimming pool competed for attention with a delightful musical program supplied by several of the festival soloists and chorus members. Among the stellar performers were Mr. Sullivan himself, who addressed his fine bass voice to several songs, and pianist Randolph Hokanson, who played two compositions written by his wife. Basso Donald Gramm proved his versatility by playing several selections on the organ, and singers Ruth Scates, Evelean Hebrard, Gene Bartlett and Mike Zaccane did their bit in the vocal department. Maestro Gastone Usigli assisted several of the artists in the capacity of accompanist.

Former Islanders Gather

"Aloha" meant greetings and long-time-no-see at the dinner and cocktail party given Sunday last by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Palms for a group of their friends. All had formerly lived in either Hawaii or Manila.

Honor guests at the gathering, held at Los Laurels Lodge, were Manila expatriates Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Boyle, presently of Pasadena, and Captain (USN) and Mrs. Gordon Chung Hoon, visiting here from the Islands. The Palms' other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Van King, Baron and Mrs. John van Carnbee Melville, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Eric Berne, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Millard, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brook, owners of the Lodge.

A junior auxiliary of the main party was entertained at another table by Mr. Palms' son, Francis Jr., who is here on vacation from his Vermont prep school. His dinner guests included Mrs. Boyle's daughters, Susan and Victoria Straubel, Bill Kaye, Sharon Brown and Guy Kneedler.

The party was treated to entertainment of a high order in the form of authentic and expert hula dancing by the Chung Hoon, Bill Brown, Herb and Ollie Brook and Bonnie King, who carried their impromptu floor show well on into the early hours of morning.

On the preceding Saturday evening, Bonnie and Van King also entertained a gathering at their home in Carmel with a hail-and-farewell party occasioned by the arrival of the Boyles and the imminent departure of another Manila expatriate, Harold Kneedler, who left last Friday for an extended stay in the Islands.

Klenes Entertain Festivalites

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Klene entertained with a pre-Bach-Festival luncheon Saturday noon in the patio of their home in Carmel Valley. Among the Klenes' guests were a number of the Festival soloists, who arrived late last week for final rehearsals, and Festival producers Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous.

CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The practical value of the spiritual truths contained in the Bible will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Truth."

Scriptural selections to be read include Paul's advice to Timothy (II Timothy 2:15): "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be read (497:3): "As adherents of Truth, we take the inspired Word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal life."

The Gorden Text is from Isaiah (25:1): "O Lord, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth."

ORDINANCE NO. 177 N.S.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SIGN CONTROL

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Section 605 of Division 3, Part IV of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 605. It shall be unlawful to construct, erect, display or maintain any illuminated, electric, phosphorescent, luminous, or luminescent sign, in, over, upon or facing any public street, lane, alley, way, part or place within the corporate limits of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, except as provided in Section 606 hereof."

Section 2. That the City Clerk of said City is hereby instructed to cause this ordinance to be published once in the Carmel Pine Cone, the official newspaper of said City, within 15 days after its final passage.

CERTIFICATION OF CITY CLERK

I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 177 N.S. which was given its first reading at a Regular Meeting of the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea held on the 7th day of July 1954, and finally adopted at an Adjourned Meeting of the said Council on the 13th day of July 1954.

I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

DATED this 14th day of July, 1954.

wheel, with the final result, that a brace of Austin-Healeys placed one-two, with J.P. overall third.

Bert Taylor and his hand-built Porsche special took a first place class win in the novice event for modified cars over 1400 cc, while Greg Teaby, Monterey fire chief, drove his Jaguar XK-120 to take second in his class in the novice race for over-1400 cc production cars and second place overall in the event for stock Jaguars. He, Taylor and Kunstle are all members of the Pebble Beach Sports Car Club.

Still another Carmel entry, Paul Morlang, collected a trophy for first in his class in the under-1500 cc event for modified cars; he drove a tiny Fiat special. Carmel and PBSCC also had a contender in the ladies' race: Mrs. Bernice Riolo, a three-times grandmother, who was driving in competition for the first time. Despite her MG's malfunctioning clutch which made it impossible to shift into third gear, Mrs. Riolo finished the race in fine style, and says she had more fun than anyone else on the course.

A Boy It Is

Number One Boy in the Charles Hummel family is their sturdy young son, just a week old today; he's their first child, and also the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Woodward, also of Carmel.

The baby has been named Charles Hage Hummel, and he displaced eight pounds, ten ounces on arrival at Peninsula Hospital. His paternal grandmother is Mrs. Naomi Hummel of Pocatello, Idaho; he also has two great-grandmothers, Mrs. Imogene Chaney of Oakland, Iowa, and Mrs. R. D. Baker of Seattle, Washington.

Dr. Barnes Osteopath Exec

Dr. Margaret W. Barnes of Carmel, an osteopathic physician, was one of some 2500 doctors and students who attended the 58th annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association last week in Toronto, Canada.

Dr. Barnes, whose Carmel office is at Carpenter and Third, was re-elected secretary to the executive board of the Academy of Applied Osteopathy, which met concurrently with the A.O.A. The five-day convention included more than 150 lectures covering every phase of modern medicine, with special seminars and discussions on cancer and its treatment.

Ned Smithers Weds Miss Lane

Former Carmelite, Edward H. (Ned) Smithers and his new bride, the former Dorothy Lane of Hillsborough, are at home in Burlingame following a fortnight's honeymoon at Santa Barbara and Lake Tahoe.

The young couple exchanged vows in a nuptial mass at St. Catherine's Church in Burlingame on July 3. The wedding reception was held at the Peninsula Golf and Country Club.

The benedict's mother, Mrs. Frances Smithers of Carmel, was a member of the wedding party. Others from Carmel who attended were Ned's aunts, Mrs. Katherine Grenfell and Mrs. Verne Skillman, and his cousin, Mrs. James Hatch McGibney, with her three children Patrick, Michael and Kathleen.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. William E. Lane of Hillsborough, and a graduate of San Jose State, was given in marriage by her brother, Eugene W. Lane. Her sister, Mrs. Bryce E. Van Alstyne (Barbara Lane), was matron of honor. Both wore gowns in shades of pink, the bride's bouffant, floor-length dress of blush pink chantilly lace and tulle. She carried a white prayer book marked with orchids and lilies of the valley.

Donald B. Witherell of Carmel served as best man for Ned, while the bride's brother-in-law, Bruce Van Alstyne, was usher.

A native of Washington, D.C., where his family has lived for many generations, Ned attended Washington schools and joined his mother here shortly after World War II, during which he served with the Army Air Force. He attended Hartnell College for two years and was graduated from the U.C. with his degree in advertising. He is now employed in the Richfield Oil Co. in San Francisco.

Heart Association Officers

Stanley Simonson, new president of the Monterey County Heart Association, was introduced to the board of directors at the annual meeting last week by outgoing president, E. H. Ewig. Other officers are Carmel Martin, Jr., vice-president; Dr. Edwin Tucker, secretary. Mrs. Houghton Roberts will serve again this year as treasurer.

It was announced that $16,668.40 had been received by the association during the past year. Mrs. Charles Simpson reported on plans for a county fair booth which will be shared by the Registered Nurses Association, and Mrs. R. H. Merritt was appointed chairman for arranging the exhibit.

Serving in Korea

Pvt. Charles E. Stephens, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Roy A. Stephens of Pebble Beach, has arrived in Korea for a tour of duty with the Second ("Indianhead") Division.

Stephens entered the Army last September and completed basic training at Fort Ord. Prior to his enlistment he attended the University of Maryland and Stanford.

Alex Casey Has a Birthday

The Alexander Caseys entertained last week with an informal party celebrating Alex' birthday. On hand for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Shreve Archer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark, Captain and Mrs. Bill Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. James Lowman, Mr. and Mrs. Michel de Dampierre and Miss Peggy Glaser and her fiancé, John Winnett, Jr.

Bishop Tippet Visits

Visiting in Carmel for Festival Week are Bishop Donald Harvey Tippet, Methodist bishop of the California-Nevada diocese, and Mrs. Tippet, who are being widely entertained during their stay.

Wednesday evening, Bishop and Mrs. Tippet and Dr. and Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray were the guests at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Inwood at their home in Carmel Highlands. Yesterday night, the Tippetts were honored at a no-host dinner at Holman's Guest Ranch, and this evening they will be the dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. Gray.

Schutes Plan Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schutes plan an informal open-house and buffet luncheon tomorrow noon for a dozen or so of their friends visiting during Festival Week from the Bay Area and Berkeley, where the Schutes formerly lived. Mrs. Schutes, a violinist in her own right, has taken part in all the festival activities, as well as appearing in several small recitals and concerts.

Angie Entertains Tonight

Angie Machado has invited members of the Bach Festival chorus, which she has helped Maestro Usigli train and direct over the many months of preparation, and several of the soloists of tonight's concert to be her guests at an informal get-together. The party will take place following the performance, at the Machado studio.

As special assistance to the 25 members of the Carmel Toastmasters Club, Victor Velissaratos, Director of Education and Toastmaster, last week prepared a detailed evaluation of the speaking ability of each club member for comparison with each club member's own evaluation of his ability.

Club officers discussed progress of the club during the previous year and responsibilities of their respective offices. Speakers included Richard M. Catlin, president; deputy governor, Rollo Payne; vice president, Jerry Giarratana; sergeant at arms, Robert McDonald; secretary, Hugh Smith, and program chairman, Howell Armor.

Pat Finley to Enter Pomona

Patricia Finley has been accepted for entrance to Pomona College for the new semester beginning in September.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James B. Finley, Pat was salutatorian for her class at Carmel High's graduation ceremonies in June. In her years at the high school, Pat also earned life membership in the California Scholarship Federation, and was past president of Junior Statesmen and Junior Red Cross, commissioner of girls' athletics and social affairs, and active in numerous campus organizations.

In the summer of 1953, Pat was one of two Carmel High students who spent the summer with families in Europe under the auspices of the American Field Service.

Buffet for Bach Crowd

Mr. and Mrs. Gastone Usigli, Misses Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous, soloists and chorus members and several of their local and out-of-town friends were entertained Wednesday evening by Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lehmann. An informal buffet supper was served by the Lehmanns for their guests, several of whom arrived following rehearsals at Sunset Auditorium.

Among the out-of-towners present were Mrs. Lehmann's niece, Mrs. Erich Lehmann of Berkeley, who is staying during Festival Week with her sister-in-law, Miss Helen Lehmann; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Fried of San Francisco, and Mrs. Henry C. Marcus, also of San Francisco. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Hokanson, whom Dr. and Mrs. Lehmann saw recently in Seattle, where they were visiting with their son, Klaus.

Men of the Wayfarer

Dr. Laurence Thompson of the Army Language School will speak for the Men of the Wayfarer on Wednesday night, following the dinner at 6:30 o'clock. He will discuss Vietnam and Its People and illustrate his talk with pictures which he took during his residence in Vietnam from 1951 through 1953.

President of the group, Gordon K. Reid, has extended an invitation to men of the Carmel Presbyterian Church to be guests, and dinner reservations may be made by calling the Church of the Wayfarer office at 7-3550.

"Our big freezer is a wonderful money saver" says Mrs. Robert E. Rudd, 140 Fallen Leaf Drive, Hillsborough, California (shown here with her two sons, Jack and Jerry)

"We started economizing on grocery bills, the day we bought our big food freezer. Stocking up on foods in large quantities, when prices are lowest, certainly pares down the expense of feeding our family. And with California's low electric rates, our freezer costs so little to run."

P-G-E

Pacific Gas and Electric Company

Gas and electricity are cheap in California

When the Rudds moved to California, they were delighted to find that their combined gas and electric bill was so low. Their P. G. and E. bill for one month was $15.31 Where they used to live, the same amount of gas and electricity would cost $22.02

Enjoy the better living that today's modern appliances make possible. You can afford to use more of them with P. G. and E.'s low rates for gas and electricity.

Opening Performances Of Bach Festival

The opening concert had two high spots. The Schutz Cantata displayed again Maestro Usigli's genius for orchestration in the haunting instrumental support he devised both for the solo voices and the chorus. Because of the sudden illness of James Schwabacher, James Mason sang the role of Jesus, and sang it with understanding and warmth. The beautiful voices of Ruth Scates and June Wilkins, with James Mason, made of this ancient pre-Bach cantata a rarely lovely and haunting performance. In the Fifth Brandenburg Concerto pianist Ralph Linsley played more brilliantly than he has yet played in Bach Festival Concerts. Always an artist of exceptional ability, he brought to the Fifth Brandenburg on Monday night an added gusto.

TUESDAY NIGHT CONCERT

Hit of the Tuesday evening program was Ludwig Altman and the Rieger Organ. Climbing aboard his instrument Mr. Altman shortly produced sounds that Old Bach himself should have heard. The Rieger Organ in Mr. Altman's hands became a musical instrument of rare distinction. The Handel Concerto in G Minor for Organ and Orchestra was extraordinarily beautiful and excited pleasurable comment even from people who dislike organ music in general. Mr. Altman's playing has character. Charles Fulkerson, Margaret Mee and Sheridan Stokes played the F Major Concerto for Piano and Two Flutes in a completely delightful manner. This was much, much more than just an adequate performance. The three musicians were playing together with great skill and a fine sensitivity for the interplay of the three solo parts of piano and flute.

Brandenburg II which opened the Tuesday night program went off with its usual elan. It is a composition Carmel Bach Festival Orchestras love to play and their special version of it under the direction of Gastone Usigli is as lively as fireworks at a county fair. Maxine McLain as solo violinist, Margaret Mee as solo flutist, Jean Stevens as oboist and Charles Daval as trumpeter, carried off the work with great skill coupled with joy in the music they were playing. The Vivaldi D Minor Concerto Grosso featured three excellent musicians who held the program up to the high pitch with which it began. Nannette Levi and Rosemary McNamee as solo violinists and William Harry as solo cellist were outstanding.

Sold-out houses testify to the national reputation Carmel's Bach Festival has achieved.

Hello to Lew and Ann

Lt. Lew McCreery and his wife, Ann, are in town this week and encamped at the home of Lew's parents, the P.A. McCreerys. Lew, who just finished specialized training with the Marines at Fort Bliss, Texas, reports next week to his new post at Twenty-nine Palms, where he'll probably be involved in work with rockets and guided missiles.

Their visit here was propitious, since yesterday was Ann's birthday—an event which was celebrated with a big family party given by her parents, the E. West Whitakers. The young couple will be leaving Sunday to get settled in their new home on the Mojave.

Miss Hall Here

Houseguest this week of Lois Williams and Louise Cabral is their mutual friend, Dorothy Hall, from Menlo Park.

BUDGET MEETING

Carmel City Council will meet as a committee of the whole to work on the city budget Tuesday night, 7:30 o'clock in city hall. Public is invited to share in the festivities.

Edna E. Ghent

Mrs. Edna E. Ghent, a Peninsula resident for the past 13 years, died Sunday in a local hospital following a period of failing health.

Until recently, Mrs. Ghent had made her home in Carmel, and had been employed in the realty firm of Phil Wilson here. At the time of her death, she lived in Monterey.

She was born April 16, 1889, in San Luis Obispo, and was married in 1922 to the late Captain Daniel T. Ghent (USN-Ret.). Her husband died in 1934, when the couple were living in Los Angeles.

She leaves a sister, Mrs. Vivian Bringham of Monterey, and a nephew, Jess Bringham of Napa.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. Russell Gregg Bisnett officiating.

John C. Hilliard

Captain John Columbus Hilliard (USN-Ret.), who first established his home on the Peninsula 18 years ago, died Sunday of a heart attack at his residence in Carmel Valley. He was 70.

A native of South Carolina, he was born October 23, 1884, and graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1908 and later from the War College at Newport, Rhode Island. He served with the Asiatic Fleet at the outbreak of World War I, and from 1929 to 1931 commanded the 38th Destroyer Division, earning in that capacity a letter of commendation from President Herbert Hoover. He retired to Carmel in 1936 after 32 years' service, but was recalled to active duty in 1940 and served as assistant commandant of the Sixth Naval District in Charleston, South Carolina, during World War II.

He leaves his wife, Ann, and a son, the Rev. Ronald Hilliard, C.P.

Funeral services were private, with burial at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C.

School For Scandal At Wharf Monday

One of the wittiest of Restoration comedies, Richard Brinsley Sheridan's School for Scandal, opens Monday at the Wharf Theatre, and will play Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays for four weeks thereafter.

Directing this sparkling piece is Don Gunderson, who also stars in the Wharf production of The Respectful Prostitute, which will share the weekly bill with School for Scandal. Carmel painter and potter Albert Dale has designed the original period costumes, and William Strom is responsible for sets. Assistant director is Bob Horton.

tively, commission members Willox and Bates have undertaken to make a big handsome layout for the city council in the hope that the council will be reminded that the planning commission has asked them again and again to beautify the parking area at the lower end of Ocean Avenue.

"We'll draw in every parking stall, paste in tufts of green stuff to indicate where the trees are. They can even buy little cars and slide them around," Willox promised.

Willox wanted to know if something couldn't be done about the sick pine on Lincoln Street near the Church of the Wayfarer. The limbs are not dead, but the needles look sad. He suggested drain tile be installed so that it could be fed and watered.

"The council has marked that tree for removal as soon as it dies, and has granted the Wayfarer Church permission to plant three olive trees there," said City Clerk Mawdsley.

"Why let it die?" Willox asked. "Why olive trees?" Clancy Bates asked, adding that olive trees are messy and their fruit drops on the sidewalk providing a skid hazard for pedestrians.

"The church wants olive trees because of the Biblical Garden," said Mawdsley.

"The Biblical garden is on the church grounds, and this is the street," said Willox, and proceeded to draw a sketch showing how tile and feeders could be installed.

Mrs. Comstock showed a plan of a Santa Rosa parking lot in which trees had been used for shade and beautification.

Mrs. Josselyn said that the Presbyterian Church designers have asked the planning commission to consult with them on plans for the new church and the commission decided to have an adjourned meeting next Wednesday instead of their usual study session, when they will hear what the church designers have in mind.

Helen Nicholas

Mrs. Helen N. Nicholas, wife of Fred Nicholas, died Saturday in a local hospital following a short illness.

Mrs. Nicholas was born December 10, 1905, in Columbus, Nebraska. A Peninsula resident for the past 12 years, she and her husband lived first in Pacific Grove then moved to a home on the 17-Mile Drive.

In addition to her husband, she leaves a son, Richard Nicholas, also of Pebble Beach.

Funeral services were held Tuesday in St. Mary's by-the-Sea Church in Pacific Grove, with the Rev. John L. Powell officiating.
